Founder's Desk

We celebrate 15 years of ASWA; we reflect on our humble beginnings in 2008 with a simple intention to help others and a passion for making a difference in the lives of the underprivileged. Despite lacking resources and experience, we have grown organically and are humbled by our progress and the lives we have touched. Each milestone we have achieved is a testament to our determination, the support of our team, and the generosity of our partners and supporters.

Together, we have overcome challenges, built meaningful relationships, and positively impacted the lives of thousands of children and adults. We are grateful for everyone who has supported us and excited for the future.

In 2022-23, we experienced significant growth and success, winning trust, securing new funds and projects, increasing our team size, and focusing on organizational development. We have progressed in addressing foundational issues in primary and adult education, and our interventions are moving us closer to our desired outcomes. However, we face challenges finding new volunteers due to the impact of the pandemic.

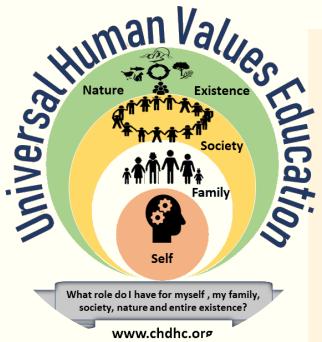

We are proud of our competencies and commitment to creating an environment fostering learning and development. We embrace innovative teaching methods that make learning accessible, friendly, playful, safe, and effective. We sincerely thank our dedicated team, volunteers, donors, funders, partners, and supporters who have contributed to our success.

Join us in expanding Language interventions, Child Learning Centers, and Children's Libraries. Together, we can bring well-being and value education programs to educational institutions across all major towns in the two Telugu states. Let's make a lasting impact, fulfil dreams, and transform futures. Your support is crucial in building a brighter future for the next generation. Thank you for being part of ASWA's incredible journey.

Sreenivasa Prasad Rao Sarvaraju
Director, ASWA

ASWA as a community....

Strongly believes in transformation, whether it's on an individual, social, or environmental

Listen, empathise, engage and empower marginalized communities.

Care about society's holistic development.

Are on a mission to develop active, productive, responsible, and caring citizens.

ASWA Strategic Framework

Vision:

- To create a happy and healthy society where every individual actively participates in building a sustainable social environment.

Mission:

- To develop active, productive, responsible, and caring citizens through holistic human education.
- We strive to instil the belief that giving back to society is the responsibility of every individual.
- We promote activities that provide support to marginalized and uncared individuals, addressing their economic and emotional needs.

Theory of Change

- Our theory of change is centered around the belief that a happy and healthy society can be fostered by nurturing active, productive, responsible, and caring individuals.
- To achieve this, we focus on providing holistic education across different domains. We actively work in school education, higher and adult education, awareness and empowerment, as well as various community services.
- Our goal is to provide immediate support to those in need while also imparting knowledge about sustained happiness, thereby contributing to their overall well-being.

Primary School Education

ASWA always believed that Education needs a holistic approach and it is a collaborative social process. From a modest beginning in 2009-10 with weekly Primary & secondary school interventions, ASWA travelled a long way in outreach and approach. When ASWA began its journey and started working towards society's holistic development, it was observed that most of the children from Govt. Schools are unable to communicate effectively, express creatively and are not connected with their immediate environment. As per a survey, Nationally, 29% of children drop out before completing five years and 43% before finishing upper primary school. Why is it so?

Some of the reasons, among many, are -

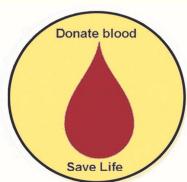

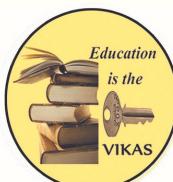

- formal schooling starts with reading and writing, irrespective of the child's print exposure, and children cannot connect sounds and symbols.
- Focus only on decoding at schools, not on comprehension, and no space for communication and expression.
- Teachers lack understanding of each child based on their cultural and socio-economic backgrounds.

ASWA looked for solutions and was convinced there is a need to strengthen and improve school and community interventions focusing on literacy and numeracy learning. Then, what should be the approach?

ASWA's school education team adopted the "Balanced Approach" developed by Maxine Bernstein as a base to overcome the inherent drawbacks of traditional teaching. It uses different discourses to use language effectively, along with Rhymes, stories, and Songs. This approach teaches consonants and vowels together, giving students the satisfaction of using what they are learning almost immediately. The best part of this approach is that it allows children to bring their day-to-day experiences into the learning, and they start learning words that are emotionally connected to their daily lives.

HOW?

In continuation to volunteering interventions in government primary, secondary schools and slums of Hyderabad in 2009-10. they made a significant move by shifting their focus to Shadnagar in 2018-19, a small town with limited NGO resources for school education.

Recognizing the lack of support, ASWA partnered with the WIPRO Foundation to launch full-time interventions in two under-resourced government primary schools in Shadnagar. These interventions specifically targeted "Foundational Literacy and Numeracy (FLN) competencies", aiming to create a conducive learning environment for the students.

However, their efforts faced a major setback when the COVID-19 pandemic hit in March 2020. Schools were forced to close, and many underprivileged children were left disconnected from learning, with some even becoming dropouts. In response, the ASWA team stood firmly behind the community and established the "Children's Learning Center (CLC)" in October 2020. Initially accommodating 18 children in an open space, the CLC served as a bridge to fill the learning gap during these challenging times.

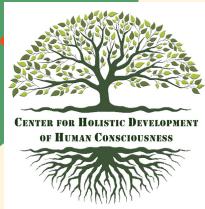

As the number of children seeking support grew, the CLC was eventually relocated to a separate rented building. It became an after-school learning space when the schools reopened. The CLC quickly became a second home for the children, providing a comfortable and safe environment where they could learn at their own pace.

Realizing the importance of holistic learning beyond the curriculum, ASWA identified the need for more learning opportunities. In December 2021, they established a "Children's Library" within the CLC. This library aimed to foster a love for reading storybooks, nurturing the children's creative and critical thinking abilities.

Today, we expanded our resources to support 130 students in grades one to three across two government primary schools. They focus on improving academic skills and nurturing cognitive and non-cognitive abilities through painting, music, and sports activities. The Children's Library has grown to house a curated collection of 2000+ storybooks in Telugu and English. Additionally, 67 underprivileged children between the ages of 3 and 15 regularly visit the CLC, ASWA provides a holistic education that nurtures creativity, well-being, and life skills. We focus on improving academic skills and fostering cognitive and non-cognitive abilities through painting, music, and sports, which has resulted in noticeable transformations.

As a result of these interventions, the transformation in the children is evident. They have gained self-confidence, express themselves creatively, and communicate effectively. ASWA's dedication to providing educational support and opportunities to under-resourced children in Shadnagar has significantly impacted their lives.

CENTER FOR HOLISTIC DEVELOPMENT OF HUMAN CONSCIOUSNESS

Center for Holistic Development of Human Consciousness (CHDHC)

ASWA is taking a two-pronged approach to transform society and individuals.

- On the one side, several service activities, like help with basic education, food distribution, blood donation, financial support, etc., to the needy and disadvantaged.
- On the other side, it facilitates a shift in the perspective to provide the clarity to live happily with harmony in all aspects of life, be it at the individual level, at home, office, society.

The second activity of ASWA is carried out under the Center for Holistic Development of Human Consciousness (CHDHC) banner.

Vision of CHDHC

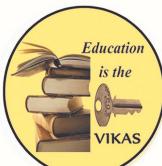

CHDHC was founded in 2018 to promote value education which is universal in nature. The primary focus of CHDHC is to offer workshops to help individuals from all walks of life recognize the happiness within and to encourage value-based living resulting in harmony in various dimensions of life like family, society, nature, and within oneself.

Need for CHDHC

We all want to live a happy and comfortable life, realizing one's full potential. However, many confusions and unresolved issues impact our being, relationships, and work. Although the average material standard of living for humans is higher than it has ever been, we are still struggling with issues within and at various levels like loneliness, depression, anxiety, lack of clarity on what to do, why to do it, purposelessness, lack of trust, jealousy, hatred, disrespect, poverty, hunger, malnutrition, inequality, polarization, extremism, violence, pollution, resource depletion, climate change, species extinction, etc.

There is an immediate need to work on enabling individuals to discover their true potential of being humans. However, they seem like different problems. The root of all issues is a lack of right understanding (clarity) in individuals and society at large. In other words, no human with the right knowledge can commit a mistake. Hence, developing human consciousness is the sustainable solution to the problems mentioned above.

In this direction, we see greater possibilities with Universal Human Values education (Jeevan Vidya). As an organization, we choose to develop the resources and design and facilitate various programs that are experiential, reflective, and rooted in making connections to the participants' own life.

CHDHC Team

We, co-initiators of CHDHC, are from different professions and backgrounds and were in search of answers to hard-hitting questions of life. After trying to understand and experience the value of this life-transforming knowledge for over 10-15 years, we all felt that it is our responsibility to take this knowledge to as many people as possible. A group of 10+ committed people started working on this initiative to spread the same among two Telugu states.

Activities of CHDHC

Our goal is to draw the attention of our participants from looking outside to looking inwards. For this, various forms of workshops have been designed to cater to a wide variety of audiences. Since 2018, we have been organizing face-to-face workshops, online workshops, and webinars for teachers, faculty, parents, students, and people from different walks of life. We have also created and shared freely available resources for the participants to facilitate their transformational journey. About 20000+ participants from different walks of life (Faculty from Schools, Colleges and Universities, students, parents, professionals etc.) attended these programs in the last five years. Hence, the reach of the content includes about 10 states in India and about 10 countries over 4 continents. There are remarkable life-enriching stories from participants.

Call for support, volunteer, and associate.

Success Stories

Jagadeesh Nandyala,
Markapuram, Andhra Pradesh,
First Generation College-Going Students,
Cheyutha Scholarship Recipient.

We are a family of 5 members, me and two elder sisters. My father is suffering from paralysis, and my mother's daily wages are the only income for my family, which are insufficient to run our family. Upto 10th class, I studied in a govt school, completed my diploma with 75%, and got an opportunity to join B-Tech 2nd Year @ Narasaraopeta Engineering College in 2020. I was confused about continuing my higher studies thinking about the expenses ahead. My mentor connected me with ASWA. After due verification and other formalities, I got the support of Rs.5000/- per month for my hostel and transportation. Adding to that, the government didn't reimburse students' fees twice in these most crucial times; again, ASWA supported me with Rs. 75,500/-.

I don't know how to convey my gratitude for your support. Along with financial support and how your team guided and treated me motivated me to identify needy people in Corona, and you backed me in distributing basic necessities. Attending the Jeevan Vidya course gave me some clarity on my personal life and how to manage it. I got campus placement in TCS and will join in June or July 2023. My Heartfelt thanks to all the Members of the organisation for continuing your support. I wish to continue my association with ASWA.

Manoja Kampe
Karimnagar, Telangana,
First Generation College-Going Students,
Cheyutha Scholarship Recipient

I have completed my 10th class in a government KGBV school. My father expired, and my mother, a farmer, encouraged me to pursue my studies. I was placed at Government Polytechnic Nizamabad in Civil Engineering. College is free, but we need to pay the hostel fee, which we cannot pay. Then I reached out to ASWA through one of our teachers.

For the past four years, ASWA has supported me for the purpose of education; along with financial support, they also extend guidance for my life and career. Now I am happily doing my B-tech 3rd year. I'm very much thankful to ASWA. I will do my best to teach and prove worthy of the organisation's help. Once settled, I will join the ASWA.

Why Funders Support Us

Avinash Kumar
Wipro Foundation

It has been wonderful to see Sreenivas and Haritha, with their complementary interests and skill-sets, lead ASWA over the last many years into an effective educational NGO. What has really stood out is team-ASWA's deep commitment to the children and their learning, and the community they work with. As well as their openness to learn and collaborate with various stakeholders. At Wipro Foundation, we hope ASWA will move from strength to strength in years to come and play a key role in not just shaping the lives of hundreds of children but also in strengthening the local education system.

I have been associated with the ASWA in the capacity of organisation design and development with committed volunteers who want to learn and grow the organisation keeping the vision and potential in mind. I have an organisation that relentlessly thinks of children's better and more relevant education not just through a single lens of classroom teaching but also continuously involving the community in their efforts. Wishing AMMA a happy anniversary and wish the organisation to thrive and adapt to create a harmonious society around us.

ASWA uniquely brings people together to volunteer their time and effort for social good. This energy is hard to find in civil society organisations of today. As we move towards professionalism in the social sector, preserving and nurturing volunteering and service attitudes is essential. And ASWA is doing a great job at this. This organisation has a leadership and core team has demonstrated amazing levels of integrity, togetherness, and unending energy to serve the underserved. I wish ASWA remains the beacon of hope for humanity and grows into a large family of civil society.

Why Govt. Stakeholders Support us

K. Shankar Rathode
Mandal Education Officer,
Farooq Nagar Mandal
Telangana

We sincerely appreciate your intervention in Government Primary schools which resulted in remarkable improvements in children's foundational learning and numeracy competencies. Absenteeism has reduced as children now attend school regularly. The Children's Library and Children Learning Center have played a crucial role, emphasizing book reading and storytelling under the guidance of resource persons, removing in-competencies and enhancing reading and learning skills. The conducive learning environment helped children to improve their reading abilities and error-free writing. Your support in the community through social welfare services and learning centers further connected children to the learning process. Overall, we have witnessed a positive transformation in these children due to your intervention.

S. Vijaya Lakshmi.
Secondary Grade Teacher,
MPP School, P.S. Ramnagar,
Shadnagar

Srinivas & Hatitha Garu joined our school as volunteers around 5 years back and started teaching our Primary class children with their unique approach. When the pandemic struck in 2020, and schools were closed, children were getting addicted to Cell Phones and TV as they were restricted to their homes. When they observed this trend in children, they started Children's Learning Center (CLC) at Ramnagar and engaged the children in learning activities. This initiative resulted in considerable improvement in children's reading, writing, drawing, storytelling and small story writing skills. Apart from these, the children are given the opportunity to learn Music, Dance & Yoga. After the Covid also, their volunteering efforts continued in two schools and CLC after school hours, where children feel safe, learn and grow. I wish that the encouragement that they give to children by providing value-based teaching with appropriate skills would continue and mould these children into responsible citizens and I appreciate their efforts for this noble cause.

Why Donors Choose Us

Donor and Supporter

CHDHC and ASWA team members are working selflessly to help people to lead a happy and prosperous life. I have been associated with the team for over a decade, and I am always overwhelmed by the never-ending commitment shown by the team to helping/educating people. I feel privileged to support CHDHC and ASWA. And I invite everyone to support them in any way they can.

The workshops conducted by CHDHC have been an enriching experience for us at Daksha. They put into perspective the needs of children and how teachers can contribute to their holistic development.

As educators, we understand the need for a loving and creative environment for children to learn and grow. CLC is doing commendable work in providing underprivileged children with the space to bloom.

We hope ASWA continues the amazing and selfless work it is doing. Wishing the entire team the very best!

What our Beneficiaries & Volunteers Say

Kalavati
Mother of 4 CLC Students
Shadnagar

I thought Children's Learning Center (CLC) was where children get free books and materials. We don't have any hope for our children's education. We migrate to another city for our livelihood. As a result, we had to compromise on our children's education. Because of CLC activities and continued engagement, our children developed an enthusiasm for learning, became confident, and could express their understanding clearly. They are not willing to skip their regular school. After seeing these improvements, we have decided not to force our children to drop from school when we migrate. We feel blessed to have this facility for our children.

Krishna Kumar. G,

It is not easy to find words to describe what I have experienced while volunteering with ASWA. It gave me the opportunity to be with school children, tell them stories and listen to them. I never thought I would go through such beautiful moments at this phase of my life. Each intervention gave me a unique satisfaction. During my journey with ASWA, I have experienced that an unselfish effort to bring cheers to others is the beginning of a happier life for myself.
